Information Centre

The Memorial to the Murdered Jews of Europe

Description of Project:

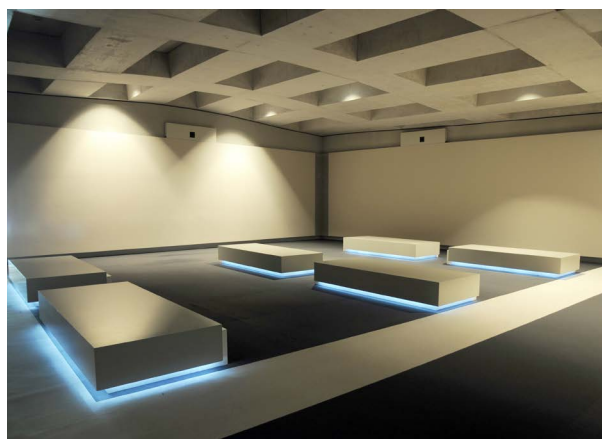

Information Centre

Objective:

A permanent exhibition underneath the famous Holocaust Memorial in Berlin. The exhibition deals with the persecution of the Jewish people during the Second World War.

Personal letters and notes, family chronicles and historical documentations with images and films, giving the visitors an overview about the terrible events. Therefore it is not only a place of information but a place of silence. Both dark and light colours on walls and floors, restrained light installations all convey a sense of trepidation. You can feel a willed and serious silence in all rooms. Even sounds of walking would disturb other visitors. To avoid this, the architects chose everroll® Rubber Flooring for its quiet and comfortable properties. It consists of four different themed rooms with a total area of 1,000m².

After ten years, five million people have visited the information centre. everroll® Rubber Flooring is resisting the enormous strains of over one thousand visitors a day entering the building. Due to its special characteristics the everroll® flooring has the durability to withstand those stresses. Not only the durability but the excellent impact sound insulation and the distinctive ease of cleaning, makes everroll® Rubber Flooring an economical and fit for purpose flooring for commercial buildings like museums, libraries and exhibitions.
